From 1948-1994, the all-white South African government forced blacks to live separate lives from whites. Blacks had to eat at separate restaurants and go to separate schools. Marriage between blacks and whites was illegal. This system of segregation was called apartheid. Nelson Mandela wanted apartheid to end. He wanted black people to have the right to vote and the right to have good jobs. Mandela organized several government protests. In 1963, the government sent him to prison for life. Mandela spent 27 years in jail. After his release in 1990, Mandela helped end apartheid. In the next few years, he won the Nobel Peace Prize and became president of South Africa. Nelson Mandela died in 2013. People celebrate his life every year on Mandela Day (July 18). 40. What is the main idea of the text? 41. Where was he born? 42. Passage 2:

Today's grandparents are joining their grandchildren on social media, but the different generations' online habits couldn't be more different. In the UK the over-55s are joining Facebook in increasing numbers, meaning that they will soon be the site's second biggest user group, with 3.5 million users aged 55-64 and 2.9 million over-65s. Sheila, aged 59, says, 'I joined to see what my grandchildren are doing, as my daughter posts videos and photos of them. It's a much better way to see what they're doing than waiting for letters and photos in the post. That's how we did it when I was a child, but I think I'm lucky I get to see so much more of their lives than my grandparents did. 'Ironically, Sheila's grandchildren are less likely to use Facebook themselves. Children under 17 in the UK are leaving the site-only 2.2 million users are under 17-but they're not going far from their smartphones. Chloe, aged 15, even sleeps with her phone. 'It's my alarm clock so I have to,' she says. 'I look at it before I go to sleep and as soon as I wake up." Unlike her grandmother's generation, Chloe's age group is spending so much time on their phones at home that they are missing out on spending time with their friends in real life. Sheila, on the other hand, has made contact with old friends from school she hasn't heard from in forty years. 'We use Facebook to arrange to meet all over the country,' she says. 'It's changed my social life completely. 'Teenagers might have their parents to thank for their smartphone and social media addiction as their parents were the early adopters of the smartphone. Peter, 38 and father of two teenagers, reports that he used to be on his phone or laptop constantly. 'I was always connected and I felt like I was always working,' he says. 'How could I tell my kids to get off their phones if I was always in front of a screen myself?' So, in the evenings and at weekends, he takes his SIM card out of his smartphone and puts it into an old-style mobile phone that can only make calls and send text messages. 'I'm not completely cut off from the world in case of emergencies, but the important thing is I'm setting a better example to my kids and spending more quality time with them. 'Is it only a matter of time until the generation above and below Peter catches up with the new trend for a less digital life?
